Oh, this is hilarious! You emailed me from an account that cannot be responded to but you want me to believe you want to continue the conversation. Hypocrisy at its finest!

Thanks,

Neil Girrard

Representative Small,

Thank you for your timely response. I appreciate that your time is valuable and I hope that our conversation is not a waste of time for either of us.

>Recently, reports were published that President Trump withheld military aid to pressure the Ukrainian President into interfering with our national election. If true, President Trump's efforts to leverage the power of his office for personal political gain is evidence he put America's national security at risk.

And if false, these reports represent an effort to deceive not only yourself and all other Democrats in Congress, it is an effort to deceive the American people as well. Let's see, is there anyone in Congress who stands to lose a great deal of money and possibly go to jail if the truth about Joe Biden and Ukraine comes out to all Americans? Is there any possible motive that the main stream media, of which 90% are owned by 6 corporations, might be motivated to perpetuate the elitist false narratives? Are you really so naïve? If so, you should resign now. That you listen to only one side of the news says that you are the one deceived. We certainly don't need a pathological liar and a delusional power-freak's flying monkey in Congress. You don't have to be their flying monkey. You do know that flying monkeys are a very real psychological phenomena and that I am not using this as an insult, no? If not, google it up.

You wrote:

>After reviewing the transcript of President Trump's call with the Ukrainian President, I called for an investigation of the facts.

If you can listen to the call's transcript being read and believe that Trump did anything wrong, you are a delusional flying monkey for Schiff and Pelosi. If you had not heard and believed Schiff's criminal "parody," where he projected his own pathological delusions onto the call, you would be able to read or listen to the transcript and recognize the truth. Schiff, as did CNN's Don Lemon, merely projected how they would think and feel if they were making the call. You've been duped. They are the ones who would have a criminal intent and use veiled inferences like it's their native language! Trump does not speak this way!

You wrote:

>The president and his administration made it clear to New Mexicans that they are not committed to finding the truth.

Sorry, but that's unmitigated BS. Trump and his administration has made it clear to New Mexicans and US citizens alike that they are committed to exposing the truth. Because you are Schiff and Pelosi's flying monkey, you cannot see how they are the puppets of what is now openly called the Deep State. This elitism of the Deep State is what is most dangerous to the US and to New Mexico, not the fact that Trump is a patriot to the fundamental American ideals of individual liberty, personal responsibility and equal justice for all.

It is the Democrats who have made it abundantly clear that there is no justice for the President here. The Democrats are committed to hiding the truth. This phone call is one big nothing burger but it is being used to cover up a number of true crimes and ethical violations – by the Democrats!

You wrote:

>They took unprecedented steps to prevent the facts from coming forward. The White House and the State Department stopped a key witness from testifying before Congress and the White House issued a letter refusing to cooperate at all with the investigation.

And pathological liar Schiff's actions are precedented? Where? Everything you Democrats are trying to do to the President is unprecedented! And it is completely unjust and unfair. Gang bangers from the cartels get better treatment from the law than President Trump is getting from Schiff and Pelosi. You are delusional if you think otherwise.

You wrote:

>If we refuse to seek the truth, we risk our safety and the integrity of the very Constitution I swore to support and defend.

If you refuse to seek the truth about Schiff and Pelosi's deranged capacities, YOU risk our safety and the integrity of the very Constitution you swore to support and defend. I believe every member of Congress should be brought before a military tribunal and be held to account for where any have used their office for personal gain at the expense of our Republic and their oath to uphold and defend it from all enemies foreign and DOMESTIC. How would you stand up to such a job review and inspection? May we see your tax returns now? I didn't think so.

>These actions by the president and the administration left me with no other way to get the information the country deserves than to support an impeachment inquiry. I voted for an impeachment inquiry because it lays out a public, transparent, and bipartisan process focused on finding the facts and determining the truth.

This is pure BS. You could go talk to someone like Jeff Van Drew or Collin Peterson for a Democrat's view. Or you could try some real bipartisan outreach and talk to Doug Collins, Matt Goetz, Jim Jordan, Steven Scalise or Kevin McCarthy about the truths I'm telling you. So long as you take your talking points from the lying Democrat Deep State puppets, you will remain their flying monkey. And when the truth of this TREASONOUS action is proven, you will be an accomplice.

You wrote:

>To be very clear, I have not reached judgment on the president's actions, nor on the appropriate response, but I need the facts to make these weighty decisions.

This is a lie. You have already decided that it is in your best interests to remain loyal to the Democrat party. The facts have been before you but you won't admit to them. Now let's consider what you did not answer from my letter to you:

I wrote:

>>Secret meetings in the basement are not transparent and this partisan witchhunt against President Trump is not Constitutional by any stretch. Why won't Schiff release all the transcripts? What is he hiding? The rules you Dems (and no Reps) approved are written (no lawyers for POTUS until in the Judiciary committee, etc) are only good for constructing a false narrative and for providing optics for media propaganda, not for producing justice.

In answer, you wrote:

>[Crickets.]

When you can address this, I will start to think you are not wasting my time.

You wrote:

>Despite this dark, turbulent time for our country, I am inspired by the people of New Mexico. I've talked with rural doctors focused on getting care to patients who can't afford expensive treatments or travel for services. I've worked with tribal leaders focused on getting water to families who still have to haul it. I've listened to business owners trying to keep our border thriving in the midst of an uncertain trade economy. I've spoken to industry leaders leading the fight for safe streets in the Permian Basin, and I've learned from NMSU students who want to find a way to build their future here in New Mexico. The people of New Mexico are doing the work that needs to be done, and I will stay focused on doing that work with them. It is what I came to Congress to do.

I will start to think this is truth when you start working to pass USMCA and working with Trump to get the border wall funded for New Mexico. Until then, you're just spouting your assigned talking points. You've wasted far too much time on this impeachment farce, get to work!

You wrote:

>I voted for an impeachment inquiry because it lays out a public, transparent, and bipartisan process focused on finding the facts and determining the truth.

If you believe the Democratic kangaroo court accomplishes these goals, you are incredibly naïve and deluded.

You wrote:

>While we may disagree about this issue, I know that talking with constituents about issues like this is the most important part of my job. Thank you for being willing to engage me in the conversation.

It is in the best interests of New Mexico and our Republic that I not only engage you in conversation but that I help you see the foolishness of what you're doing. I hope you wake up soon.
